About the webinar

The outbreak of Covid-19 has affected all walks of life. This pandemic has thrown open the following ethical questions: i) The question of social disregard ii) The feeling of loneliness of Covid-19 patients. iii) The next of kin are not allowed to visit even after the death of the patient. iii) Disrespect towards the dead. v) Besides the above, the problem of non-adherence to the guidelines issued by the government is another major ethical issue and this is happening mainly due to ignorance and lack of awareness amongst the common public. The pandemic has totally changed the work ethics. Working from home has become a 'new normal' under the pandemic situation.
